Why this fund

African start-ups that have outgrown incubators, angels and bootstrapping often cannot yet reach later-stage venture, development finance or private equity. This is the missing middle.

Seed Fund II is built for that gap. It invests at Seed, Pre-Series A and Series A, reserves capital to follow on in its strongest companies, and connects them with corporate partners and later-stage investors. It builds on the strategy Anza has applied through Anza Capital's portfolio, with a more structured follow-on approach and a liquidity framework built on secondary sales and corporate co-investment.

Food, clean and digital technology

Food technology

Climate-linked food and agri-technology across the value chain: climate-smart production, data and decision-support platforms, efficient logistics and cold chains, and traceability and waste reduction.

Clean technology

Clean infrastructure, distributed energy systems and green technologies that support energy security and a low-carbon, climate-resilient transition.

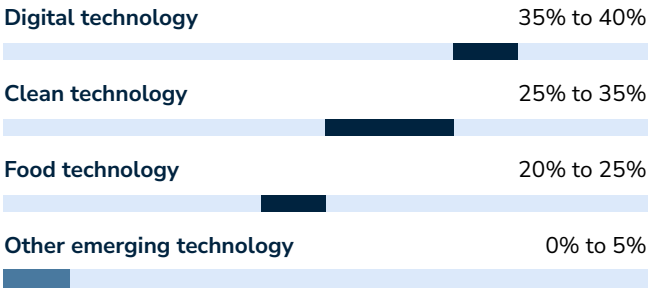

Digital technology

Digital solutions built for African challenges in health, education and financial inclusion, drawing on new digital infrastructure and a young, tech-savvy population.

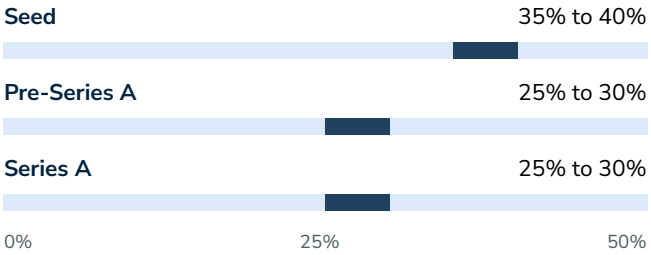

Target allocation

Ranges for capital deployed, including follow-on investment. Bars drawn on a scale of 0% to 50%.
